Message from our President

Happy Spring Angus Friends,

After a very long and cold winter spring seems to have finally arrived. It is always welcome to see the spring flowers and forsythia beginning to bloom and not to mention, young babies playing around the cows. I hope that you are having a good calving season.

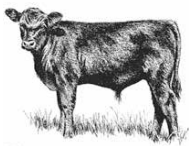

Our annual Breeders show will be coming up on July 4th weekend at Huntingdon, so watch this edition to get all the details and to make your entries.

Our Finest Female Sale took place last month and was a success. Our total was just over $145,000.00, an increase of about $21,000 over last year with a lot average of $3465.00. I want to thank Steve Schmuck, our new sale chairman, all the consignors, buyers and everyone who helped in the office and the barn for the sale to help make this a success. Also a word of thanks to Tom Burke and his staff for all their work in bringing the sale off. Our Angus on Parade Sale will now be in focus for this year and we are looking to build on last year's success with the video format. Now is the time to start thinking of any consignments for the sale to support your Association.

As always, our Juniors are busy and have started working on planning for next year's Eastern Regional Junior Show. This promises to be a great event so keep watch for more details and if you can, volunteer to help in any way you can. They are also getting ready for the summer shows including the ERJAS in West Virginia and the NJAS in Tulsa this July. The Semen Sale committee had a sale following the Finest Female Sale and had a great sale. They are also lining up the sale to be held at KILE so if you can help, you can contact the semen sale committee. Lets support our Juniors!

Finally, as I write this, I want to extend my wishes to you all for to have a great spring and I look forward to visiting with you soon.

Sincerely,
Gene Trowbridge
President

PA Junior Angus Association... Needs your Help...

As most of you know, we The PJAA, will be hosting the ERJAS in 2016. Hosting any show is a major undertaking, especially when it involves raising $$$$$$. Therefore, an idea was shared at our October junior meeting; and we liked it! This idea involves “Creating, Printing & Selling our own Cookbook”. Our request is for Angus members to submit 5-8 recipes to be included in “our” cookbook. The cookbook publisher has a fantastic website that will allow each member to enter their own “family favorites.” The basic layout and fundamentals will remain the same for all submissions. Carol Shoop, will proof & edit each submission and where needed, make corrections. We have 2 goals (right now), 1) 200 recipes contributed...to make a “well-rounded” collectible cookbook and 2) to sell 400 (minimum) cookbooks.

What can you do to help...well, gather all your families favorite recipes (not just those for beef), categories are: Appetizers & Beverages, Soups & Salads, Vegetables & Side Dishes, Main Dishes, Breads & Rolls, Desserts, Cookies & Candy, and This & That, and begin preparing your list of gift – giving needs as everyone needs a new cookbook, especially college students/graduates, brides-to-be, Christmas is coming too, grandparents always like to see their recipes in print, young adults moving on their own.

Helping us to sell our cookbooks is as important as sharing your families favorites for in the cookbook. We will be taking pre-orders at the 2015 ERJAS and the PA Breeder’s Show. Any questions or for help, please call or email Carol Shoop (shoops@tds.net or 570-840-5803 or mail to: 411 Shoop Road Dalmatia, PA 17017).

To enter your recipes: Go to www.morriscookbooks.com

Res. Champion Intermediate MAJAC
Sired By Flawless

BCA Flawless is a stout made, deep bodied bull that moves like a cat and stands down on perfect foundation. He has been admired and complimented by numerous respectable cattlemen for his base width and flawless phenotype. His dominating performance in the ring makes him a sure fire sire of Champions. He is smooth shouldered and clean fronted with a low birth weight making him a great heifer bull. This spring at Beaver Creek his calves have averaged 71 lbs.

HOW YOU CAN BE OF HELP AT THE BREEDERS SHOW!!

The Breeders Show is certainly one of the high points of the Angus year. You exhibit your cattle, renew old friendships, make new ones, spend quality time with your family, eat great food and participate in the fun auction and judging contests.

The Breeders Show takes a lot of money to operate. It also takes a lot of volunteers. We hope you will consider contributing in order to ensure the continued success of the show. We have many new members who may not understand the total picture regarding the financing of this show. While we receive some funding from the State, money also comes from entry fees and some from the generous contributions of our members. Sponsorships are available in the categories listed above. Please consider where you can help. You will be recognized throughout the three-day event!

ALL SPONSORS RECEIVE A SPONSOR NAME BADGE; RECOGNITION IN THE SHOW CATALOG AND NEWSLETTER; RECOGNITION BANNER IN SHOW RING ($100 OR MORE); PICTURES TAKEN WITH THE CHAMPIONS ($250 OR MORE).

WE THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT!

2015 PENNSYLVANIA ANGUS BREEDERS SHOW

Rules and Regulations

July 2, 3 & 4

1. All Exhibitors must be members of the PA Angus or Junior Angus Associations. Any member of these Associations is eligible as long as their membership is valid on June 1 preceding the show.
2. READ CAREFULLY: All animals must be owned/transferred by June 1st. A junior must show his/her own cattle. Out of state juniors may show only PA bred cattle in the junior show. PA resident juniors only in showmanship.
3. All entry forms must be sent to the PA Angus Association no later than June 1st, with appropriate fees.
4. All junior heifers, bulls, and cow/calf pairs are eligible to be shown in the Breeders Show Open Class. The entry fee for heifers and bulls for both shows is a total of $30/head. Entry fees for cow/calf pairs for both shows is $45/pair. Steers show in the junior show only and are $20/head.
5. Entries received between June 1 and June 15 will be charged double entry fee. Substitutions will be accepted at double entry fee.
6. Each exhibitor must supply his/her own feed, hay and straw (for tie outs). Free bark bedding will be provided in the barn.
7. All animals must have a legible tattoo in both ears, which corresponds to the registration paper. CHECK YOUR TATTOO BEFORE COMING TO THE SHOW! Exhibitors must bring original registration papers to the show. MAKE SURE YOU HAVE YOUR REGISTRATION PAPERS IN HAND TWO WEEKS BEFORE THE SHOW—copies cannot be used. Tattoos will be checked.
8. Each exhibitor must keep manure removed from the aisle behind the animals and deposit it at the place designated outside the building. Each exhibitor must clean up his entire tie out area before leaving the show grounds at the completion of the show.
9. All exhibitors and cattle must be in place by 1:00 p.m. on Thursday, July 2nd, and will be released when all activities are completed.
10. THE PA ANGUS ASSOCIATION BOARD OF DIRECTORS VOTED TO FOLLOW THE AMERICAN ANGUS ASSOCIATION RULES CONCERNING COLORING AGENTS: "...no exhibitors, individuals assisting exhibitors or member owners at such show shall be allowed to use any coloring agents, on any animal exhibited." THIS RULE PERTAINS TO SHOWS WHICH ARE SPONSORED BY THE PA ANGUS ASSOCIATION ALSO, WHICH WOULD INCLUDE THIS BREEDERS SHOW.
11. All blocking chutes must be used in designated areas.
12. No dogs allowed on the fairgrounds! (Fair Board Policy)
13. The Show Committee reserves the right to refuse any entry offered and to require the removal from the grounds any exhibit which the Show Committee feels for any reason to deem unfit.
14. The exhibitor assumes all risks for damage or loss either to person or property. It is further expressly understood and agreed between exhibitor and the Huntingdon County Fairgrounds, which the show incurs no liability or obligation to the exhibitor other than to permit the exhibitor to use the buildings or grounds for exhibit.
15. Exhibitors must allow their cattle to be used in judging, showmanship contests or demonstrations if asked to do so.
16. All decisions of the show committee are final.
17. Any or all premiums will be calculated after the show, and will be paid when all bills have been received and paid.
18. Fifty (50) head need to be shown in the Open Show to qualify for premiums from the American Angus Association.
19. Angus steers can be shown by PA Angus Association Junior members only. The Grand Champions and Reserves may be blood typed.
20. Under American Angus Association rules, standard class breaks do not have to be used in dividing classes. Classes will be divided after all the cattle are checked in. The show committee reserves the right to divide divisions based on entry numbers.
21. All vendors must register with the Show Committee prior to the Show.
22. Spotlight Show—eligible heifers for this show had to be purchased on the 2014 or 2015 Finest Female Sale or 2014 Angus on Parade Sale.
23. No nurse cows are allowed on the premises.
24. Due to more cattle and the bark situation, the show committee may do stalling assignments. If you have someone you need stalled with, please indicate with entries, or contact Emily Brown by June 1st with requests. All attempts will be made to accommodate your requests.

JUNIOR SHOW CLASSIFICATION

JUNIOR OWNED HEIFER SHOW—Heifers purchased by a junior member and in that juniors name only, and calved after September 1, 2013. Heifers will show by class and division, beginning with the youngest. Same divisions as listed in bred and owned heifer show.

JUNIOR SHOWMANSHIP--All juniors who sign up will be divided into different age groups at the discretion of the show committee. Each participant will receive a gift compliment of Frey Show supply. The Grand Champion and Reserve will be selected with special awards! Ages will be divided evenly at the show.

JUNIOR PREMIER BREEDER will be awarded at the conclusion of the Junior shows.

BREEDERS SHOW HEALTH REQUIREMENTS

1. A Certificate of Veterinary Inspection (CVI) issued after May 1, 2015 is required.
2. All animals must be free of infectious and contagious diseases and a statement of this should be written on the CVI.
3. Individual official animal identification. Official ID will have a US shield and includes:
 - A USDA-issued National Uniform Eartagging System (NUES) tag; or
 - A 15-digit Animal Identification Number eartag starting with "840" (including RFID) or
 - Other official identification approved by USDA. (Brands and breed registrations with tattoos are not acceptable).
5. A current rabies vaccination administered by a licensed veterinarian is recommended for animals 3 months of age and older (market cattle are exempt). (revised 2015)

Pennsylvania "Angus On Parade" Sale

The 2015 Angus On Parade Sale will include the option to sell your cattle on video during the traditional sale. The sale will again be held in the Small Arena of the PA Farm Show Complex during the Keystone International Livestock Exposition. The Sale will be held on Sat., October 3rd, 2015 at 1:00 PM.

Live Cattle will enter the sale ring when sold while video lots will appear on the big screen over the auction ring when sold.

Now, everyone has the opportunity to showcase their program with a great cow, pair, or bred heifer without the requirement to halter break or bring the animal to the sale facility. (Shipping will be arranged from your Farm or Ranch after the sale).

With enough participation it is our plan is to open up the National Angus Marketplace to all consignors. Advertising will be placed in the Angus Journal as well as other regional publications. The sale will be on the internet giving buyers the option to bid at the sale, phone or the internet. Your entry will be exposed to the National Marketplace.

Please help us plan the sale. Let us know if you plan to consign to the sale with a Live Cattle or Video Entry or both.

Dear Angus Breeder,

I would like to thank all of you for a great first year on the job, since I started as your regional manager last March. It's been a true pleasure getting to know you, and I look forward to working with even more Angus breeders in the year ahead.

Aside from the extremely cold temperatures many of us in the eastern region experienced this winter, and the associated problems caused during calving season, we as a breed have had an excellent start to the fiscal year. Year-to-date, registrations are up more than 6%, ET registrations are up 12%, total regular membership is up almost 20% and junior membership is up 13%.

It's been great to see many of you at sales this past month, and the sales have certainly continued at a successful pace. Average bull sale prices in our region have been up nearly 42% or $1,500 per bull in 2015 on sales reported to the American Angus Association. Bull sales reported to the Association in our region have totaled 593 bulls for an average of $5,077 per head.

As always, if you are unable to attend a sale and need assistance with bidding, please do not hesitate to contact me.

This month, I would like to encourage you to learn more about the Association's MaternalPlus program. Profitable cow herds begin with productive and efficient females, but how can you receive the most out of reproductive trait data? The answer is MaternalPlus, a voluntary, inventory-based whole herd reporting system designed to capture additional reproductive trait data and, ultimately, expand reproductive and lifetime productivity tools.

By enrolling in MaternalPlus, you will receive additional information at weaning processing time, including calving ease, birth weight and weaning weight EPDs for all calves out of inventoried cows. In addition, MaternalPlus provides you with individual herd analysis and graphs for you to determine your herd direction and allow you to make effective selection decisions. Also by using the cow disposal codes within MaternalPlus, you will be provided statistics on your culling decisions.

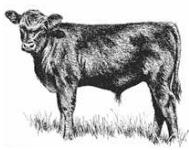

Enrollees are required to submit heifer breeding records, calf birth and weaning records, and disposal of females no longer in your herd. You can enroll at any time through the online login system, but MaternalPlus does allow you to report data using all of the traditional means of performance reporting, as well. Please take the time in the coming weeks and months to enroll in this valuable program.

If you ever need assistance, please don't hesitate to contact me.

Take care,

Chris Jeffcoat

In the cool of spring, plan for the heat of summer

Miranda Reiman, Industry Information Assistant Director

"Best practices" help cattle feeders keep cattle comfortable - March 26, 2015

By Miranda Reiman

As soon as the planters are in the shed, the crew at Weborg Feeding Co. near Pender, Neb., will unpack the shades in preparation for summer in the yard.

The 16 portable tarp systems they've purchased in the last two years are just one more step in their effort to minimize heat stress on finished animals.

"Shades have been a great addition, another tool for the toolbox," says Tyler Weborg, who co-manages the 25,000 head feedlot with his dad Kent. "I wouldn't say they're a cure all, but they've worked in combination with sprinklers."

The family consulted with Terry Mader, retired Nebraska beef Extension specialist, to develop a plan for dealing with the problem days: the hot, humid and still. He says shade is just one of the many management and facility options producers have to help their animals through those times.

"You really shouldn't go into the summer without a heat mitigation plan," says Mader, who recently summarized decades of research into, "Guidelines for Managing Heat Stress in Feedyard Cattle."

The best management practices, developed for Certified Angus Beef LLC, can be found at www.cabpartners.com/educators.

"All cattle, of all sizes, shapes and kinds can be under heat stress," he says. "It's a continuum where the blacks and dark reds will absorb the most solar radiation but the whites absorb some, too. And all of those things are confounded with body condition, hair coat and feed intake."

Similarly, there is no single solution.

"There is a low probability that just one thing is going to be the sole solution, but it will take the edge off," Mader says. "Shade is a good one. It certainly will eliminate the most severe part of the heat load, but you have to understand that there are more things you can do to keep the animals comfortable. You can pick and choose. You don't have to do them all, but these are the things at your disposal." Other suggestions include moving processing times to cooler times of day, wetting portions of the pen's surface or using sprinklers, and altering feeding schedule or ration.

"If you do at least one thing, it's better than nothing," he says, "but if you can do two or three things, then you have a greater chance of minimizing that impact and maintaining the cattle on feed."

For the Weborgs, portable options allow them to place relief in the pens at highest risk, like those with animals closest to marketing.

"The combination of the shade and sprinklers gets the cattle spread out and gives them a chance to move between the sprinkler, the bunk, the tank and back to the tank," Weborg says. "In observing them, they rotate in and out."

Although there is an initial investment, he says "shades pay for themselves pretty quickly" when figuring lost gain and other potential health problems associated with heat stress. Mader also notes decreased dark cutters and quality grade impacts with cooling strategies.

"We did see some hard numbers on our performance, where in years previous cattle maybe went off feed, but with the shade and sprinklers, it seemed like they stayed more consistent," Weborg says. "They were more comfortable and they continued to eat throughout the day."

That appetite is a good sign.

"There is climatic and metabolic heat stress, and one of the main mechanisms the animal will have is that he'll just stop eating so that he can drop that metabolic heat load," Mader says.

If cattle continue to eat, it's a good indication that prevention measures are working and they're able to dissipate heat, he says. Mader suggests producers monitor the weather conditions carefully, poised with a plan to respond.

"If you need to have extra water space, have the tanks available and a mechanism to fill them," he offers as an example.

Seventy degrees. That's a critical number for Weborg.

"If the temperature doesn't get below 70 degrees overnight and through the early morning, cattle don't have a chance to cool off," he says. "You keep an eye on cattle movement. If cattle start milling around, looking for air, you better get a plan in place and keep ahead of them."

Humidity and air flow are other significant variables to watch.

It would be easier if there was a one-size-fits-all approach, Mader says, "but when you're dealing with an external environment you have no control of, that's a variable component you have to be aware of relative to the welfare of the animal."

In the feeding belt, most of the "heat events" occur from July 1 to August 15. Although true heat emergencies are somewhat rare, Weborg says it's important for both themselves and their feeding customers to know they're prepared.

"We try to do the best job we can," he says.

A Cowboy's Mom

When an old cow has a baby in the spring or in the fall
She'll hide that little rascal where the weeds and grass are tall.

Then she'll go to grazin', seemin' to mind her own biz
But you can bet yer bottom dollar she knows right where he is.
Cause she'll keep one eye on him, while pretendin' she's distracted,
But if you get to close, boys, prepare to be attacked.

'Cause if she sees you sneakin' 'round, she'll perceive you as a threat.

Her radar will hone in on you, so immediately forget

'Bout checkin' on her calf without her bein' on the wise.

'Cause she's a one cow baby body guard, and she's five times your size.

A snortin', pawin' she bear with the momentum of a train,
Intent on climbing up your back and inflicting intense pain
On the menace to her offspring, just like a cowboy's mom,
Who may seem unassuming, but don't expect her to be calm

Whenever she perceives a threat to her cowboy child

An insult or a harsh word can change her calm to wild.

Like the calf's mom she'll allow independence to a degree

She'll let him wander just a bit, so long as she can see

Where he is, and know that he'll come back to her call.

With trepidation she watches him grow older, strong and tall.

When weaning time comes she cries just like the mama in the field.

But she knew back in the beginning that this fate was sealed.

'Cause it's a cowboy's lot to wander and trips back home are rare.

But he thinks of his mom real often and wishes he was there

To tell her every day in person, but especially on Mother's Day,

How much he loves and misses her, and to thank her for the way

She raised him up to live his life, and to him it don't seem strange,

She did it like that old cow raised her calf out on the range.

Happy Mother's Day!
